I'M JUST SAYIN'

PICNIC IN THE RAIN

On June 4, Nu Chapter Alumni hosted their annual Family Picnic at the home of Frater Chip Wray and wife Anne in balmy Sonoma.

It rained. We all knew it would. Weather forecasts for the week prior to the event were ominous. Now, wise counsel would probably suggest that when rain and thunder are forecast for the day of a picnic, you just don't go.

But obviously Tekes think differently about these matters. For there we were, ensconced in the Wray's commodious living room, looking very much like a stand-up cocktail party, because the important thing was another opportunity to get together, to enjoy each other once again. That's how much we mean to each other. As they say these days, that's how we roll, rain or shine..

Okay, it was crowded. It was reminiscent of a Marx Brothers stateroom scene. And it was incredibly fun. To make the event even more exciting, we welcomed a few undergraduates and recent graduates to our midst. It was wonderful to be able to temper our own ribald revelry with the sedate behavior that is so characteristic of the men of this new millennium. (Notice the sarcasm here.) It was a nice mix.

All of which is not to imply that older alumni were a wild bunch. We did not set rubber tires afire in the middle of Channing Way, we seldom threw up at cocktail parties, and to the best of my knowledge we never dated outside of our species.

And now, as we write this, we are looking forward to Thanksgiving dinner at the House November 20, at which we were guests of the undergraduates who always treat us so well. And following that, on December 9, our annual Christmas Luncheon.

Life is wonderful.

TEKES GO OUT TO THE BALL GAME

TKE actives and alumni came together to enjoy the Oakland A's last Sunday game of the year, September 18. Although the A's fell 3-0 to probable Cy Young award winner Justin Verlander, everyone who attended had an outstanding day. Alumni from every generation joined in as we tailgated in the parking lot in celebration of the end of the baseball season and the beginning of a new semester. While we were grilling burgers and drinking great beer, Tekes from Sacramento State spotted our flag and joined in our festivities, showing that you can truly meet Tekes everywhere! The event was a great success.

LETTER FROM THE PRYTANIS

Curtis Hendrickson (#1120)

Hello All Fraters,

I am the Prytanis for the Nu Chapter. Because I was pledge class president of the Pi Class as well as the Hegemon for the Rho pledge class, I have been able to use my leadership to continue traditions that I feel make our house a better place and additionally, break from old traditions that are no longer necessary in building a well-respected house in the community. Some of my goals that I had in mind when coming into the position of Prytanis included: building better relationships with our neighboring houses; communicating with the University when we are excelling in the community with philanthropy and scholarship; reaching out to our alumni more and making the house a more comfortable haven for the people who have made it what it is today; making sure that I have a very informed and tight-knit officer corps; and last but not least, I wanted to make sure that our house is always evaluating itself to create a culture against stagnation. I feel that over the last semester, we have accomplished this and we continue to grow and mold as we see fit as a chapter. Our membership is the largest that it has ever been and our GPA is also the best that it has ever been at an outstanding 3.48.

If we, as a house, can continue to keep the words of the Ninth Paragraph as well as the Six Pillars in mind, then we can continue to make choices that lead us to be better men. People join fraternities for multiple reasons that need no explanation while I think others join our house when they are ready to excel as individuals. What I mean by that statement is that when people join TKE they embark on an education period in which they learn the values of being a great student, the importance of being a gentleman to all people, the positives of helping the community through service and philanthropy, and the inspiration to be a better brother to anyone wearing the letters "T-K-E". All of these skills that we obtain when we join TKE are ones that make us into leaders of tomorrow in any field that we plan to enter. While some fraternities stop their education program when they become brothers, I, as Prytanis, have a different idea of when the education process should end. I believe that while I am leading this house, every person will have to contribute and be accountable for our house and additionally every person will have to continually learn and be reassured of why they joined this house.

One more essential goal I must address for this last semester is just to make sure that I try to help facilitate problems as they arise. Realistically, I cannot solve every problem that takes place in or outside of the house; but as long as I am trying to make sure that I lead our house when changes are in need, I am convinced that the Nu Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon is in good hands; and I believe that as we continue to make these culture changes and continue to educate our members, then we have nothing but flourishing years to look forward to.

Teke Take to the High Seas

Undergraduates and Alumni took a recent sail around San Francisco Bay. The trip began near AT&T Park and we proceeded to sail beneath the Bay Bridge to Alcatraz and Angel Island to see the sunset behind Golden Gate Bridge. The weather was perfect, and everyone enjoyed this night.

This semester, the last semester that I will be an officer in this chapter, will be filled with great activities. With our officer corps, we want to create an environment for our actives to participate in brotherhood and encourage the alumni to have a greater stake in our chapter. We do not even want to limit that to solely the young alumni, but every generation of TKE.

Currently I am a History major and will be graduating in the Spring. Upon graduation I plan on becoming a history teacher at the high school level. I want to do this down in Southern California, next to my home town of San Clemente. When I look back on my years as a Teke, I know that I will say that I had an impact on my fraternity chapter and that my fellow fraters are making changes in the world because they were part of such a unique experience at Cal. These are my goals that I will hold in this semester and beyond.

The Edelstones Present: TKE Gamedays at AT&T Park

As everyone now knows, Cal football games at A T & T Park are incredibly different. Gone is the short walk from the Teke House to Memorial Stadium. Gone is the feel of Memorial Stadium.

Gone are the splinters from the bleachers. Although traditional gamedays are gone until 2012, TKE is still bringing the party to San Francisco. Tailgates, hosted by Mark ('83) and Steven ('13) Edelstone, have been very successful and a lot of fun.

Even though the home game tailgates haven't been in Berkeley, they have still attracted many alumni, undergraduates and girls – all seeking the Teke flag in Lot A, next to McCovey Cove.

FROM THE HISTOR

Steve Edelstone (#1117)

I am a third year Political Science major from Moraga, California. As Histor, I have had the pleasure of planning and organizing alumni events for this calendar year. This past semester as Histor has been an incredible experience and I look forward to finishing out this semester on a high note. Past events such as the sailing trip and the A's game have been incredibly fun as well as seeing everyone at the Thanksgiving Dinner on November 20th.

In my spare time from being Histor, I enjoy playing piano, guitar and ukulele as well as attending lots of concerts. If you are ever up from 1 to 3:30 AM on a Sunday night/Monday morning, go to kalx.berkeley.edu to tune into my radio show! I am also an avid Cal sports fan, attending every football and basketball game. Look for the TKE flag in the parking lot across next to McCovey Cove at AT&T Park for the TKE tailgate

FROM THE GRAMMATEUS

Kevin Zhu (#1115)

I am currently a third year Bioengineering major from Palo Alto, California. As the Grammateus, I would like to continue to improve upon and expand my responsibilities. For example, I recently installed an erasable monthly calendar at the foot of the stairs containing relevant events within and outside of TKE. The weekly calendar I've been sending out has gotten great feedback and I will pass that responsibility onto my successors. The online archive has been set up and provides members easy access to past meeting minutes. I have also been going through and reformatting spreadsheets and templates to make them more intuitive, organized, and streamlined for future users. The number of unique listserves dedicated to an interest (music, technology, human anatomy, etc.) has also increased greatly, and many of them allow brothers to share relevant discoveries. Lastly, I have continued to collect parent contact information from new candidates and initiates to ensure that we have all emergency contact information on file. I will continue to do the best job I can as Grammateus and incorporate new responsibilities to the position. I am always open to ideas and suggestions, so feel free to get in touch.

FROM THE CRYSOPHYLOS

Michael Tuffli (#1108)

I am a third year economics major from Marin County, CA. My goals for the semester as the Crysohphylos are to make sure that the house functions financially in an efficient and responsible way. Managing the dues collections and handling all of our transactions can get to be quite a big responsibility, especially when I want to make sure everything is kept very organized and timely. With the new energy in the house and the high numbers creating a larger budget, it is up to me to make sure that the house's budget is allocated to the areas that satisfy the most people going toward events and purchases that lead to the highest quality of life for us at the TKE house. This summer, Venerable Prytanis Curtis Hendrickson and I had to find a new chef, but after a long and careful process, we have hired a great cook with whom the House has been thrilled. We are also considering a number of great house improvements. Even though my job is very administrative, I feel the way I go about my job has a big impact on the morale of the house. Also, by trying to find the most efficient and creative ways to use our money, I can make sure everyone in the house has an awesome semester ahead of them.

FROM THE HYPOPHETES

Doug Wreden (#1122)

I'm currently a third year Computer Science major. This is my third semester as an active brother; my previous positions in the house include being the Griffon for the Rho pledge class, and being one of the two chairs responsible for putting on the Decline of Western Civilization Halloween party. I chose to run for Hypophetes because I feel that it is a role perfectly suited to my character. Above all else I cherish the brotherhood that exists in TKE, and I see no better way for me to serve the house than to promote and advance that brotherhood in every way possible.

My goals for this semester are two-fold. The first is to provide an atmosphere at TKE that encourages the strengthening of the bonds between our brothers. One way that I hope to accomplish this is by hosting brotherhood events of a very wide variety -- already we've had events such as Shitty Movie Nights, group attempts at the famous Fenton's Ice Cream Challenge, and "Kidz Night". By really encouraging brothers to host events, and by supporting those events with my brotherhood budget, I can hopefully always give people a reason to come by the house and have something unique to look forward to. Additionally, I plan to promote an atmosphere of open communication at TKE. More than anything, I want our house to be open and honest with our thoughts and opinions, especially on a person-to-person level, so that conflicts between brothers can be resolved in a constructive and responsible manner.

Secondly, I plan to promote TKE's academics in every way possible. Already our house GPA and general attitude toward school is exemplary, so I hope to continue this by offering regular study tips at meetings, keeping our study room clean and usable, and working with our scholarship chair on his various projects. An example is the tutoring system that we set up this semester, and there is now a weekly list sent out to the active brothers of those who are willing to tutor other brothers in specific subjects. I have no doubt that we'll continue to be one of the top academic houses in the Greek community.

FROM THE HEGEMON

Michael Rigg (#1128)

I am a third year Molecular and Cell Biology major from Westlake Village, CA. My goal for my second semester as Hegemon is to make sure each one of our candidates is well-educated in TKE history, values, and expectations. I also want to make sure my successor has all of the resources and tools necessary to begin his semester as Hegemon.

My perspective on my position is quite different this semester with the Tau Class than it was with the Sigma Class (Spring 2011). This Summer I had the opportunity to attend a five-day leadership institute called the Undergraduate Interfraternity Institute (UIFI) in Bloomington, Indiana. Hosted by the North-American Interfraternity Conference, the camp provided me with an experience in which I worked with other fraternity and sorority leaders in the Nation to develop my own personal vision and goals for TKE-Nu. It allowed

Tekes Take Over San Francisco: Bros To Breakers

Fraters Alex Morris and Alex Flood planned one of the most popular events ever held for Tekes on October 8. They called it Bros To Breakers, and it was essentially a scavenger hunt all over San Francisco. There were six themed groups, ranging from the classy "Bro Team Argyle" to "Team Tre" (where every member of the team dressed like Andrew "Tre" Trevino) to the "Super Smash Brother Team" in which every member wore costumes corresponding to the Nintendo 64 video game (Ryan Tabura chased Barrett Glasauer's brother the entire night as they were Donkey Kong and a banana respectively) Clues included kidnapping Ryan Tan, going to In-n-Out Burger, and taking the most creative planking picture. (Planking is a national fad where someone lies flat and face down on the ground in creative places.) Bros to Breakers was one of the most creative events ever thrown for Tekes.

me to see exactly what I want the future of our fraternity to be: that is, one of quality gentleman who are accountable, personable, responsible, and successful.

With that vision in mind, I plan to work with our new pledge class and to train them to become these types of men by aligning their values with those of our chapter. I think we got off to a great beginning and I see a lot of potential in the Tau Class.

Outside of TKE, I am Vice President of Risk Management for IFC, as well as a member of the Vice Chancellor's Student Advisory Committee on Student Affairs.

FROM THE PYLORTES

James Brady (#1113)

This is my second semester as a brother in Tau Kappa Epsilon. I am a second-year Chemical Biology major from Thousand Oaks. During my first semester as Pylortes, I tried, to the best of my abilities, to educate the house on essentially my entire job so that they are aware of what to do in the case of an emergency, or what to do in almost any situation. I thought I executed this goal well during my first semester and have continued it in the last semester of my term. There is only one main aspect of my job that I have done differently this semester and that is to maintain the stability of the social aspects of the house, while still being more careful in the area of risk management than has been the case in the past few semesters.

TEKE Philanthropy: Scoring Goals for Cancer Research

Once again we showed off our philanthropic spirit at ADPi's Diamond Cup Soccer Tournament. The team, composed of Fraters Drew Flood, Steven Edelstone, James Brady, David Fink, Barrett Glasauer and Walker Dove fought valiantly, beating rivals Sigma Chi 1-0 in the first round. Barrett scored on a lightning strike from the top of the goalie box. We began the quarterfinal round versus AEPi well. Heading into halftime with a 1-0 lead. Unfortunately, our luck ran out as AEPi scored on a fluke goal and Steven's goal got called back. Team TKE lost in a shootout, but showed everyone how philanthropic and competitive we can be.

TKE's Golden Gate Getaway

For the third semester in a row, Teke traveled from Channing Way to Stow Lake in Golden Gate Park to get out of Berkeley and enjoy a day away from studies and stresses of school. Retreat was a tremendous success, and morale is higher than ever before! The day started with Frater Doug, who has served as Hypophetes for the calendar year, organizing fun events such as a team challenge, which involved a team member eating 10 marshmallows and saying "Chubby Bunny," a three-legged race, and a team leapfrog race. The day then got more serious with reverse gavel pass, where each team spread out over the park, and discussed more important topics about the problems and successes of our house as a whole. The semesterly TKE football game occurred afterward with Frater Abi Bala coming out of nowhere and scoring four touchdowns. Gavel pass ended the day as the sun set over San Francisco. As always, Retreat was a great, relaxing day, and the best in recent memory.

MEET THE FALL 2011 INITIATES

Hi! I'm Alex Mandel. I am from Santa Cruz, California. I am a Sophomore double majoring in Cognitive Science and Computer Science. I really enjoy web and graphic design, as well as the general study of creativity. Some of my hobbies are sports (especially soccer and track), singing, and swing dancing.

My name is Shayne Sossamon. I'm originally from Lakewood, California. Lakewood is a suburb on the outskirts of Long Beach. I am a first generation student, and the youngest of four brothers. I have done a lot of guitar playing in my day, and also enjoy surfing and music. I hope to one day become a child psychiatrist as well and am currently a Microbial Biology major here at Berkeley.

I am Alex McLean from Seattle, Washington where I grew up and have lived for my entire life. I am considering majoring in Political Science at Cal, which I might pursue in order to attend law school. I am interested in politics and law, which has led me to think about a career possibly as a lawyer. Back in Seattle I played a good deal of soccer and went on a lot of kayaking and sailing trips.

My name is Alex Nelson and I am from West Linn, Oregon, a small suburb about 15 minutes south of Portland. I come from a crazy home with two little brothers, three dogs, and two cats. I haven't lived in California since I was a kid, so living here now is much different than back home. I'm a freshman interested in either Integrative Biology or Environmental Science, but I am undeclared right now because I haven't decided yet.

My name is Travis Stansbery and I was born and raised in San Clemente, California. Throughout my life, I have always been involved in athletics, ranging from soccer and baseball to ultimately rugby and lacrosse. On top of athletics, I was also involved with choir, academic decathlon and various other clubs and societies. During high school, I earned my International Baccalaureate Diploma as well as graduating with a cumulative weighted GPA of over 4.75. I am an intended Chemical Engineering major and am thinking about adding Mechanical Engineering as a double major. I hope that through these majors, I will ultimately get a job in alternative energy studies and development.

I'm Andrew Grant and I am a freshman at UC Berkeley. I am majoring in Political Science with a concentration in International Relations. I was born and raised in Anaheim, so naturally I am a big Angels fan. In high school, I was really into water polo and was the captain of my team all four years. I am very excited about becoming a brother at TKE!

Hey! my name is Jeff Koury, I am from Tracy, CA which is in the Central Valley about an hour east of Berkeley. I am a second year here at Berkeley and I am currently studying for a business major, but I may switch to Economics, I have not decided yet. As far as my personal life goes, I really enjoy sports which is one of the main reasons I chose to come to Cal because of the array of talented sports teams. In high school I played baseball and I watch as many games as I can throughout the year of any team, but especially the Oakland A's. Finally, my real hobby is discovering and listening to music. I love to discover new bands and see them live. I try to go to about ten concerts a year.

Hello, my name is Alex Bernhart and I am currently a pledge for the fall 2011 semester. I am originally from Denver, Colorado, but my family, due to my mother's job, moved around quite a bit, including Rye, New York and Omaha, Nebraska. We just recently moved to San Francisco this summer and I look forward to becoming better acquainted with the Bay Area. I have two siblings: my little sister, Victoria, 11, and a twin brother, Chris. My mom, Laurine Garrity, is currently the CMO of Charles Schwab and my dad, Michael, is a financial advisor for Schwab as well. I graduated from Creighton Preparatory School in Omaha and am currently an intending Political Science major. I look forward to becoming part of the TKE community.

My name is Daniel Bollinger and I am majoring in Electrical Engineering and Computer Science as a first year at Berkeley. I am from Claremont, California. I enjoy playing basketball, as I am 6'5". I am also very passionate about music, both listening and playing. I collect vinyl records and play guitar. I am very excited for this semester and I am loving all of the experiences I have had so far.

The Teke Bike Gang

Over the past summer, a moped and scooter rental store opened up on Bancroft. Hypophetes Doug Wreden, in his creative wisdom, decided that renting bikes and dressing up in costumes would be a fun brotherhood event. Boy was he right! Twelve Tekes in ridiculous costumes rode all around Berkeley, creating mass chaos and hilarity. Proving to the rest of the Greek System that we were the toughest bike gang in Berkeley, we rode around Channing Circle about 20 times, honking and yelling. From there we traveled down Telegraph, honking and yelling, to Taco Bell where we went through the drive-thru, and then all around campus. TKE Bike Gang was another event demonstrating the incredible closeness and high morale of the house, showing the rest of the Greek System that we can have the most fun.

NEWS OF NU ALUMNI

ANDY VISCOVICH '49 of Stockton, CA explains “I have been out of action due to a complete hip replacement. Am now at home and receiving therapy.” We hope Andy will be back among us again soon.

PETER THOMPSON '54 of Clovis, CA was also under the weather for a while, undergoing triple bypass surgery last December.

JOHN BELL '56 of Sonoma, CA likewise has some medical woes behind him: “Greetings friends, loved ones and creditors. Just a note to let you all know that I am back in the land of the (semi) living after two more strokes and a long rehab.” At his last writing he was due to have an aneurysm removed from his right groin area. (“I knew that area would get me in trouble one of these days,” he says.) He acknowledges that he is slightly behind in his correspondence and thanks everyone for their support and prayers. “They really do work.”

BILL LOGAN '77 of Ventura, CA is a self-employed Artist at Large, which sounds like an outstanding way of life. Still married to college sweetheart “Sta,” he says, Have spoken only to Pete and Alex. Pete has been a good friend to us and has remained a stand-up guy.”

Inspiring stuff from PETER WINKLER '76 of Tiburon, CA: “My law office sits barely a block from our fire station, allowing me to respond first to volunteer fire department “recalls” from the Tiburon Fire District. On earlier anniversaries of September 11, several of us used a San Francisco office building to climb 101 floors, the number of the Twin Towers. On this 10th anniversary, the San Francisco Fire Department staged a stair climb in the Transamerica Tower with 343 firefighters and police officers, the number of firefighters lost in New York. Each climber carried a pendant with the name and photo of a New York firefighter. On the back were the names and photos of two San Francisco firefighters who died in service in June.

“I joined five other Tiburon firefighters dressed in turnouts and helmets. As we climbed we made small talk, every once in a while interrupting ourselves to wonder how those New York firefighters had managed. Even when we carried airpicks and tools on earlier climbs, we bore only a fraction of the load of the New York firefighters. They climbed into complete uncertainty, with terrified civilians flooding the stairwells. As brave as we believe we are, we stand in awe of the raw courage of those firefighters and first responders. It reminds me to keep my daily challenges in a larger perspective.

“We finished, tired and soaked through with sweat, but profoundly rewarded for taking another small step to honor the men and women who lost their lives in New York ten years ago.

From ROBIN HARRIS '56 of Kelseyville, CA: “Today I sat on my front porch transfixed as several wild turkeys ventured into my front yard. I get deer about once a week, quail all the time, or a possum or coon at my back door, but this was my first turkey sighting. It just reminded me that, although I often long to be closer to the action of the Bay Area, most of you guys don't get to experience the sights and sounds that we routinely enjoy up here in our little rustic county.”

And we knew him when! EARL ANTHONY “TONY” WAYNE '72 is our nation's new Ambassador to Mexico. Confirmed in August and sworn in by Secretary of State Clinton in September, he is now down there “working hard on the vital relationship we have with our southern neighbor.”

FOSTER SHANNON '52 says, “Since May, 2011, I've been serving as Interim Pastor at Alhambra True Light Presbyterian Church. I continue as President of Green Leaf Press. My most recent book is 'Why Are These Presbyterian Churches Growing?' I am currently working on 'Answering Questions People Ask About Christianity.' Janis and I, with some friends, had a great time in the Black Forest Area of Germany for two weeks last Fall.”

From BOB KEASBEY '55: “Retired in 1994 after 34 years with United Air Lines. Ended up flying 747s international. Moved to Ashland, OR. Play banjo with various Dixieland groups, and folk music every Sunday at a local coffee shop. When Ashland High School took a trip to China, I played a duet with my son on the Great Wall. Since taking up the banjo in the Teke jazz band, I have played all over the world.”

Oenophiles (look it up) JACK LEHBERG '57 and CARL ANDERSON '57 and their brides, Sandy and Margo, respectively, spent a few days recently at the Lehberg digs in Escondido, playing bridge and raiding the Lehberg wine cellar for fine vintages. A good time was had by all.

The Nu Chapter Alumni Association is pleased to announce the addition of ANTHONY JAMES WRIGHT '10 to the Board of Directors.

GALE G. "BUD" MARSHALL '54 - 1932-2011

A man who loved his friends and his computers, Bud Marshall, #313, passed away August 6 at his home in Livermore at the age of 79. Born in Richmond May 27, 1932, he grew up in Oakland and attended Cal from 1950 until 1954, pledging Tau Kappa Epsilon in 1950. He volunteered for service with the Army in 1954, serving in Munich, Germany. He returned to Cal in 1957 and was hired shortly thereafter by Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, from which he retired in 1976.

While in the Teke house, he became close friends with his Frater Bruce Cowan '53 and served as his best man when Bruce married in 1958. The two men passed away within three months of each other. Bud was married only six years to Jeanne whom he married in 1965, but the two remained friends until her death.

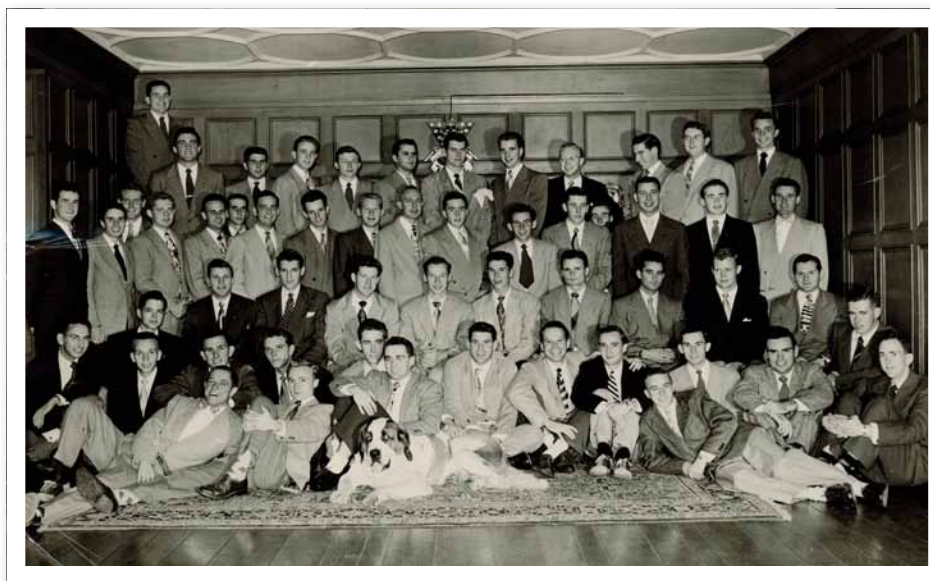

Following Cal, Bud devoted much of his life to computer programming, writing outstanding programs. He was a pioneer in the field, where he was described as "brilliant, great and highly skilled."

He helped launch The Independent, the Livermore Valley's newspaper, in 1962 as its first investor, and continued as an ongoing consultant until a few weeks before his death. He introduced the paper to electronic typesetting before this technology was widely accepted in the publishing field, and wrote software for all its departments.

Bud was a voracious reader of a wide variety of genres and writers, wrote poems and was an avid storyteller. Music, tennis and hiking were special enthusiasms, as was cooking. He is remembered for his stew. He was a kind and gentle person with a fine sense of humor.

He is survived by his goddaughters, Elizabeth and Christina Zirker, whose father, Malvin Zirker, was a friend from childhood.

Bud Marshall's Goddaughter, Christina Zirker, who helped us flesh out our notice of Bud's passing, also provided this photo which we believe dates from Fall, 1951. That's Bud, relaxing on the floor in front, at right. Fraters of that era should be able to identify all the others, as well.

SUPPORT IS URGED FOR EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION

Nu Chapter's John Phillips '61, a Board Member of the Teke Educational Foundation (TEF), wants Fraters to be aware of the Foundation and how it supports our Fraternity.

Following completion of CAPA's house rebuilding project, Gary Reed, President of TEF asked Frater Phillips to become a member of the Board of Directors of the organization. He accepted the invitation and has served in that capacity since 2006.

"TEF's purpose is to support the members of TKE with scholarships and leadership training programs," Phillips says. "I'm pleased to report that five scholarships were awarded in 2011 to David Herschorn, Abiram Bala, Josh Feldman, Ted Rothenberg and Alex Flood; and up to a dozen Nu Chapter members attended Regional Leadership Conferences and the Leadership Academy this year. Furthermore, during TEF's most recent five-year 'modern' history, the fund balance has approximately doubled from $3 million to $6 million. And we believe that our Foundation will be an increasingly positive force in helping to cause our Fraternity to be recognized as not only the biggest, but also the best.

"I ask that you consider supporting TEF as well as Nu Chapter; and for those who may be inclined to establish a permanent scholarship supporting Nu Chapter active members, TEF will assist you in making that goal a reality."
